

LA GITANA

Moscatel Heredad de Hidalgo

Nose: sweet of course, with lots of dates and figs. It's fruity but the dark side is bigger, showing caramelized sugar, molasses and thick pear syrup. Also plenty of spicy touches, more than average. Soft peppery notes, a little curry. There's also a heady note, almost petrol-like.

Mouth: Good balance of sweet and spicy, with a hint of acidity to avoid being cloying. Bags of raisins and caramel, again with a lightly burnt edge and a pinch of pepper. More toffee towards the end.

Variety: 100% Moscatel
